FINAL CONFLICT

FC is produced to offer people a political, cultural and economic answer to the internationalist foe in all its guises.

Whilst most of our articles are serious, FC does use humour as we believe it the best form of attack on our enemies who take themselves far too seriously!

FC is published by Nationalist activists and is an independent journal, though editorially it supports the International Third Position (ITP) whose Statement of Principles is available from FC for a S.A.E. (I.R.C. overseas).

THE EDITORIAL

MICHAEL NEW Vs. THE NEW WORLD ORDER

"Michael Who?" - no, Michael New. Sorry, just a little joke. Most FC readers won't have a clue who Michael New is, but it could be that he has started something which our enemies will find difficult to counter without seeming totalitarian and tyrannical.

Michael New, a decorated medical Specialist, was serving in the United States Army in Germany when he was asked to remove the U.S. flag from the right shoulder (the senior side of the U.S. Army Battle Dress Uniform), to the left, whilst putting UN colours on the right shoulder. In his 'Enlisted Man's Oath' it states that he'd sworn allegiance to the U.S. and its President. "... according to regulations and the Uniform Code of Military Justice, so help me, God."

Not knowing what the "regulations" were as regards obeying an alien authority as opposed to the U.S. military and government, Michael New approached his sergeant as according to him the experts "... on the wearing of the regulation uniform are the sergeants." But the response he received was far from normal!

Michael New was immediately threatened with court martial, imprisonment or less than an honourable discharge if he didn't wear the "UN uniform". He was also directed to read the history and objectives of the UN, which he did.

Nothing further was heard until October 2nd 1995 when there was a special unprecedented briefing on the legal basis of deployment to Macedonia and the wearing of the "UN uniform". The army lawyer who spoke was a West Point graduate. He spoke to the 550 strong battalion for 52 minutes. But when he finally came to the point Michael New had been waiting so many tense weeks for, it all seemed a farce. Why should they wear the "UN uniform" - because, said the lawyer, "they look fabulous!" Everyone laughed except Michael New.

By this stage he knew that the UN uniform was not regulation and was not in the Army's regulation handbook because Congress had not approved the wearing of the UN uniform. So on the morning of October 10th 1995 Michael New wore his US Battle Dress Uniform whilst everyone else wore their UN "Baby Blues".

With the backing of his family and Col. Ronald D. Ray, a retired Marine, Vietnam combat veteran and lawyer Michael New took on the whole system! His supporters whilst preparing for the court martial also took the battle to the media, appearing on the radio etc.

Despite finding evidence that Bill Clinton had deceived the American Congress by claiming Bosnia was not of significant danger (i.e. not likely to cost lives etc.) and so was able to deploy U.S. troops there without Congressional backing and despite the court admitting that the UN uniform is not a regulation one, Michael New was found guilty and sent back to America with a bad conduct discharge.

But the repercussions are still happening. UN Ambassador to the USA Madeline Albright had to go before a Senate foreign policy subcommittee and explain by what authority American soldiers are transferred from US control to UN control.

The horrible truth about the United Nations is starting to surface and it's something the authorities don't like. They would like to sweep it all under the carpet for fear of witnessing more Nationalist revolts in the various armies it has under its control.

What with the rise of spontaneous peoples' Nationalism across America - witnessed primarily through the rise of the Militia's, the media's new Mr. Bogeyman - Michael New's stand against the New World Order could prove very interesting indeed. We could even see the Zionist run government of America coming under more and more pressure from different quarters, and as we've witnessed already, when that happens people die and all sorts of weird things happen (for details see our article on the Oklahoma bombing in FC #9).

Let's just hope decent, honest soldiers like Michael New will come forward from other armies and take a stand against the New World Order.

Looks like we could be in for a very interesting few years ahead...

FROM THE NEWS DESK:

ABORTION AND THE ELECTION: LOTS OF FUN TO BE HAD!

AS WELL AS more serious ways of beating the system, like building the Nationalist Counter Power, Nationalists should always be looking for ways of 'putting a spanner in the works' of this corrupt system.

Two perfect opportunities face Nationalists as 1997 gets underway: abortion and the general election.

Nationalists feel strongly about abortion and rightly so! There is no excuse for the mass murder of innocents! When 14 year old Emilia Klepacka refused to accept an award at her school from a pro-abortion prospective MP it caused a right stink in the media.

Now a group calling itself the Pro-Life Alliance is saying it's going to stand candidates where no pro-Life candidates are standing.

All in all these next few months could reap large benefits for our movement. We need to push the anti-abortion message heavily, backing any public demonstrations held by pro-Life groups and adding to the impetus as much as possible. Even pro-Life graffiti will rouse potential supporters. Contacts made can be shown how the pro-Life message is just one part of the struggle against the anti-family lobby.

Added to this, the Third Position will be running a 'Don't Vote' campaign in the run-up to and during the general election, in order to show that parliament, 'democracy' and the whole system is corrupt and answerable only to the Money Power.

All Nationalists should help this campaign if we are to show that we are the only people who remain outside of the party political charade with any genuine platform in favour of the family and Nationalism.

With a successful 'Don't Vote' campaign, especially targeting the strongest parties in their respective areas, along with disruption caused by the Pro-Life Alliance and the Referendum Party (despite their Israeli boss, financier and Euro MP, Goldsmith); we could really make this whole election into a laughing stock!

At the end of the day, it comes down to individual organisers and activists. If you do this well in your area we will all reap the rewards. So let's get out there and make a difference!

SOD THE SYSTEM! DON'T VOTE!

NEWS IN BRIEF - NEWS IN BRIEF - NEWS IN BRIEF

FREEMASONRY TODAY?

In order to make 'the craft' "more open" - according to the assist. Grand Master of the United Grand Lodge of England, the Marquis of Northampton - the above named mag is being released. Will it have a "Conspiracy and Cover-up" section?

DECENCY PLEASE

A lot of people were pleased when murdered headmaster Philip Lawrence's wife launched a campaign to stop violence and bring back morals and decency into public life. But what happened? The media and politicians jumped on it straight away making it "their" crusade and instead of focusing on the essentials like family life, morality etc. warbled on about closing knife shops - surely a tiny symptom of a much greater disease! If morality existed in any real way, knife shops would pose no threat at all.

LOONEY LIBERALS

Grace and David Turnbull are so fed up with "racism" that they advertised their £100,000 home in Ayrshire, Scotland, in an Asian advice centre in Crosshill, Glasgow, hoping an Asian family would buy it. The concerned reader who sent us this info asked if they would be sent to prison like Robert Relf who tried to sell his home to an English family?

PC POOFTERS?

Police in Manchester have enabled poofs to make anonymous charges against those who carry out "assaults" on queer vermin. This is clearly open to abuse. Soon any pro-family person could be accused of all sorts of crimes by angry and resentful poofs. Meanwhile top cop David Bullett complained of S. Yorks. police advertising in Gay Times. Clearly 'political correctness' is running amok in Britain's police.

WAR CRIMES TRIALS STICKERS SPECIAL OFFER!

AS WAR CRIMES trials loom against at least one elderly citizen of this Zionist Police State, the media is going to be baying for blood! Zionist sob stories will fill the airwaves and anyone accused of "War Crimes" will be tried and convicted even before they get to court - or in some cases, even though they don't have to go to court!

What's clear is that the media won't let anyone escape the fact that such trials are going on. What an opportunity for us! Whilst this is in the forefront of peoples' minds we must get out and about with the truth. As such, we are lowering the price of our anti-war Crimes sticker, from £2.50, to £1.50 per 100 inc. p&p. This special offer is only available to UK readers as we want the stickers to go up here, where it matters! Cheques etc. should be made payable to "Final Conflict" and sent to: Final Conflict, BCM Box 6358, London, WC1N 3XX, England. So come on! Order some stickers - or if you're ordering something else, add them onto your order, and let's get out there and do what's got to be done!

THIRD POSITION NEWS

AUTUMN CAMP A SUCCESS!

The Third Position Autumn Camp took place in a beautiful rural setting. Comrades from all over England and Wales were joined by Comrades from Romania and Poland. The weekend was spent doing essential work. There were talks given over the weekend, but the activity aspect of the camp was given maximum importance.

A leaflet was produced entitled "England has not Spoken Yet" which attacked the party system for betraying the aspirations of workers, homeowners, small businessmen and families. These were given out in a local town centre by activists.

In the evening poster teams went out with The Voice of St. George. A number of towns and villages were targeted. The following day we witnessed people reading and discussing the contents of The Voice of St. George and very few had been torn down.

A huge bonfire lit the night sky as activists enjoyed a barbecue. A talk was given on the movement overseas, with a run down on events, plans for the future etc. A portable amp even allowed one comrade to rig up his guitar and microphone and sing a few songs, including one he'd written himself entitled 'Political Soldiers'.

The next day after watching a video on the Romanian movement, a talk was given by two visiting Romanian Comrades (who incidentally were wearing traditional Romanian clothes) about the Romanian movement which was followed by a very interesting question and answer session.

It is hoped that such weekends, with a focus on activities, will increase and act as a spur for the various activists to redouble their efforts in their own locations.

IN BRIEF

BIRMINGHAM

Following reports in past FCs of memorials to the 'International Brigade' and their fellow Communists in Spain being defaced by outraged Nationalists, the 'Birmingham Peace Gardens' followed suit with "Viva Franco" appearing on Red "survivors" (are they after reparations too?) 60th anniversary memorial. No doubt the locals are justly annoyed that the Nationalists are not commemorated in the 'Peace Gardens' too. Interestingly, the memorial at The Valley of the Fallen in Spain, erected by Franco, is to all who fell in the Civil War, not just one section of the people.

NOT THE SLAVES AGAIN!

Not to be outdone, activists in West London have been poster A4 copies of the "Who Took the Slaves to America" article from FC4. This yet again is a good piece of local initiative. Indeed our Comrades in West London have shown the way to other active units by covering large areas with The Voice of St. George and other posters.

MR FAWKES - WHAT A GUY!

Around Bonfire night activists were out night after night putting up our famous "Guy Fawkes - the only honest man to enter parliament" posters - legally of course, officer. Large areas of London were targeted and many posters were seen still up and intact in very visible and busy places, days after they were put up.

SALUTE

This is a good fanzine if you want news on the international Nat. Skinhead scene. Send a few pounds to: Marek, PO Box 55, 02788, Warszawa 126, Poland.

Help an FC Reader . . .

A Surrey reader wants to know where he can get a copy of W.G. Simpson's 'Which Way Western Man?' A Kent reader wants to know where he can get G.L. Rockwell's 'This Time the World' and a sympathetic book on the origins, rituals etc. of the KKK. A Hants. reader wants to know where she can get a copy of 'Witness' by Whittaker Chambers. CAN YOU HELP? If you can, send details into us at FC and we'll forward them onto the relevant person. Or, if you're looking for something, drop us a line.

WELSH COMRADES RELAUNCH THE WHITE EAGLE

CHRISTMAS SAW our Comrades in the Welsh Distributist Movement relaunch that old favourite 'The White Eagle'. Issue 8 of 'TWE' hit the streets as a poster-paper (similar to The Voice of St. George). Copies were given to all supporters in Wales and subscribers. TWE nailed the Labour Party's "devolution" plans as mere vote-grabbing tactics, as well as giving an intro. to the WDM. FC readers in Wales who want to help distribute TWE (There are A4 & A3 versions) should contact FC. Send in stamps if you want sample copies.

WEST COUNTRY INITIATIVE

Local activists in the West Country have shown they're "ahead of the rest" by producing some cracking ideas which other activists could do well to copy.

First of all an ink stamp advertising FC with the contact-line number (along with FC's burning Celtic Cross motif) was made which was used to stamp on Communist posters. This worked so well that the Reds got fed up of ripping down their own posters and have now quit large scale posterings.

To follow this up a tiny sticker-sized leaflet was produced with the piece from FC4 (page 10) entitled "Who Took the Slaves to America?" which was left in phone boxes. The rear of the leaflet was stamped with the above-mentioned FC stamp.

Not happy with what they'd done so far, our local yokel Comrades then produced a sticker to attack Anti Fascist Action (AFA). It simply says: "★ AFA ★ ZOG'S BOOT GOYS". These were distributed to activists at the recent Autumn Camp. They've already been put to good use by activists in London who plastered an area where AFA were staging a concert with 'The Oppressed' (see page 3 of FC10 for info on these low lives). Doubtless the AFA "hard men" were suitably impressed. Readers wanting copies of these stickers should send a donation to FC. We will then get them sent on.

The West Country has been the area that's grown the fastest this year for the Third Position and it is hoped that within a few months there will be a network of local units completely covering the whole region. FC readers who live in the area and who want to help in any way should phone: 01983 615450.

Notice

The FC booklet on the British Union of Fascists and the Imperial Fascist League is nearing completion. We are offering advertising space in the back of it to help production costs. Anyone interested should write, phone or e-mail for rates. NB: Advance bulk orders will be cheaper.

SPANISH SPECIAL

NATIONALIST VILLAGE PROJECT LAUNCHED!

Buy a dilapidated, abandoned village in Spain miles from any real civilisation, work under a blazing sun to rebuild and renovate each dwelling, transform a large grain storage room and pigeon loft into a Chapel and prepare the surrounding land for the planting of vines and other agricultural use.

The idea of doing the above will strike some as funny, others as daft and others still as strangely appealing. This is not however just an idea. It has been made a reality by a group of Comrades from four different Nations who at the time of writing have been engaged in this project for the last five months. But why?

SOCIETY'S ILLS

It is easy for those living in cities or large towns to identify the many ills which inflict modern society and I have no need to restate them here. They are obvious to all. But, it is not enough to criticise and complain and do little else. It is for this reason that the Spanish project (following in the wake of the initial French 'News from Somewhere' project) was initiated.

Our aims are many fold but can probably best be generally summed up as a return to the essentials.

VALUES AND MORALS

On the social level there will be a return to the traditional values and moral code which in the modern 'New' age have been either deliberately stifled or forgotten. A return to the natural order, starting with the individual and permeating through the family, the community and by example, sacrifice and hard work, the Nation itself.

For those who long for the flashing lights, the deafening noise of the night club/disco or the evening in front of the television watching Bart Simpson, I offer my commiserations and bid them farewell. The time is too late to be squandering our energy and resources on petty selfish amusements and personal vanities.

Wimps please stay away.

REAL FUN

That is not to say that there will be no amusement or fun and no recreation. These are essential aspects of any healthy society but these moments spent with family and Comrades united in a way impossible to imitate elsewhere will have a depth and and a value surpassing anything offered by the 'binge and winge' merchants in a smoke filled pub.

POLITICS

The political dimension is of course also full of potential as the village not only groups together a relatively large number of Nationalists in one place, but increases the 'output' of each individual as he is in constant contact with other Comrades and due to the natural exchange can reach his full potential.

Needless to say, the example set by those in the village in years to come will set the necessary example to surrounding communities and will generate interest, win friends and neutralise any opposition.

RAT RACE

Finally on the economic level, the community will as far as possible, be self-sufficient and self-supporting, providing a means to escape the 'rat race' for our Comrades and allowing them to spend more of their time participating in the struggle.

Problems have occurred and doubtless will continue to occur, but what are they there for if not to test our resolve and to be overcome?

INTERESTED?

If you would like more information or have advice to offer, time to give or money to donate, write to us c/o Final Conflict and help to make Ranting Ron proud of us!

The Village

The above article, on the Spanish Village project, was written by one of the Comrades who has been working on the village for many months with other Comrades and the support of his family.

The Comrades in Spain are working very hard, under extreme conditions. It is also very costly work - so any help practical or financial is needed.

Ramiro Ledesma ¡Presente!

The 29th of October 1996 was the 60th anniversary of the murder of Ramiro Ledesma at the hands of the Reds. I don't really know a lot about Ledesma except that he was the National Syndicalist who set up the J.O.N.S. which later joined the Falange Española to form the F.E. de J.O.N.S. On the 29/10/1936 the Reds who held him prisoner came to take him out and shoot him. Ledesma boldly informed them that he would not let insignificant scum decide the time and place of his death. He then attacked them with such ferocity that the Reds had to kill him on the spot!

One group of Nationalists in Madrid said they would not go to his grave (a common grave for the victims of the Reds in Aravaca, at the side of the cemetery) as they could not get the key! At about 10 a.m. Comrades from Britain and Poland climbed over the cemetery wall, lit candles, left a wreath, prayed and then shouted "Ramiro Ledesma . . . ¡Presente!"

A tribute to a fallen hero!

We then travelled onto the Valle De Los Caidos, the grave of José Antonio and then onto Majadahonda where Mota and Marin died. All in all a thoroughly good day out.

Judging by the flowers, it looked as though some Nationalists had gone to the grave of Ledesma the weekend before.

i José Antonio, Presente !

THE WEEKEND OF the 24th of November was earmarked for the Franco/José Antonio commemorative rallies.

We met up with some other Brits and then it was off to an A.U.N. (Spanish Nationalist group) meeting for foreigners. Luckily none of it was in English as they talked a lot (in Spanish, French and German) about 'democracy' and winning Euro seats! We sold FCs, traded info. and addresses (the Germans won the funny costumes prize again). After lunch (not bad for £7.50) we set off for the Valle again (see the report below) to give out hundreds of leaflets in Spanish, and to chat to lots of locals on their way to the Mass for José Antonio and Franco. Then outside at the end we sang lots of songs, one popular anti-Red one was also changed into an anti-Right song, which was good as since his death José Antonio has been a 'prisoner' of the right. We sang that song very loudly and did not do too badly when it came to the 'Cara Al Sol' too (that's not what I heard - ed.). It was then back to Madrid for a beer and bed. Sadly later that night one of the lads from another group got lifted with a few Germans after a disagreement with a Black chap.

On the Sunday there were two rallies at the same time! Some of our number leafleted one rally early and then rejoined us at our stall. At this point the Welsh Comrade lent the English a flag pole as they forgot to bring one with their flag. Our flags, banner, leaflets, stickers etc. went down very well. Almost everyone at the demo was happy to let the press alone, but when a couple of Yanks started to film us we gave chase, but they got away.

We spent most of our time at the A.U.N. rally which was held, we think, after a bust up last year over the King.

All in all it was a long week, but very good with lots of contacts old and new. As José Antonio said:

"The members of that youth, of which I form a part, consider it not merely a bad thing that there should be a dictatorship of the Right or a dictatorship of the Left, but even bad that there should be such a thing as a political Right or Left at all."

THE PILGRIMAGE TO THE VALLEY OF THE FALLEN

ON THE 19TH of November the English, Welsh and Polish Third Positionists got to Madrid. Sometime that night a Spanish group planned to walk from Madrid to the Valle de los Caidos. We didn't know who, from where or at what time! We did not have much luck finding out the details, so we thought about walking by ourselves. To that end we went into a tourist office. When asked for the directions the girl said "It's 60 kilometres". I told her I knew that but did not know the route . . . "But it's 60 kilometres" came the reply . . . this went on a bit longer until we left none the wiser.

We later found the Falange Español de J.O.N.S. at about 10pm in the rain outside the birth place of José Antonio. They asked us not to carry our Legionary banner until we were out of the city. As we left behind the 3 - 400 'supporters' at the edge of the city out came the banner, only to have some jobsworth try to get our Welsh flag put away (s## off!). We stayed a metre or so behind the March of about 20 people at first, but we were soon part of it as they did it in relay; i.e. walk a few miles and then hop on a coach while others took over. This happened about ten times. This wasn't for us - we walked it all (as the chappy who gave treatment for one unfortunate's mega blisters will confirm). On route, we lowered our flags as we passed near the grave of Ramiro Ledesma, met a lot of good Spanish activists and were given a 'medicinal' drink at one change over. It was a long walk, but well worth it! Rumours that Ranting Ron to get free entry to the Valle are unfounded . . . or so he says.

SPAIN REMEMBERS THE N.O.P.

Wednesday the 6th of November was the date set by the "neo" communist authorities in Poland for the beginning of the show trial of four Polish Comrades of the NOP on trumped up charges, after a wave of State orchestrated terrorism against them and the NOP (see FC#11).

In response Comrades; some travelling over 150 miles, descended on the Polish embassy in Madrid to demonstrate their solidarity and make it known to those working in or visiting the embassy that we are not fooled by their attempts to show the world that Communism has perished. The system and its tactics remains the same.

Leaflets in Spanish and Polish were handed to everyone entering or leaving as well as to passers-by and the local residents did not escape either, to the annoyance of the local security service with whom lively and (for us), humorous exchanges occurred.

READERS' LETTERS

GOOD STUFF!

Greetings Comrades,

I am what you would call a 'Nationalist/fascist'. I'm incarcerated for protecting a 14 year old from being sexually assaulted. Because of my political and social activities (i.e. being a skinhead) I was dealt the maximum sentence.

Recently, FC9 passed through my hands. I enjoyed it immensely. I would appreciate anything you can send and will donate what I can,

AND FROM ARGENTINA...

Dear Comrades,

I have learned about your publication through our 'Patria Argentina' monthly paper and wanted to contact you. I am part Italian, part Spanish (there are 15,800,000 of Italian decent here out of 33,000,000 inhabitants). I am a member of the Italian MS-FT.

Do you have addresses for Nationalist books, videos, records, publications etc. in your country and Eire?

Thanks in advance,

THE VALLEY OF THE FALLEN

THE FAÇADE OF THE BASILICA AND THE 'SANTA CRUZ'.

THE TRANSEPT OF THE NAVE WITH THE HIGH ALTAR. The flowers at the front are on the grave of our Martyr José Antonio.

THE CRUCIFIX ON THE HIGH ALTAR IN THE BASILICA. Wood carving by Beovide and polychrome by Ignacio Zuloaga.

To go to the Valley of the Fallen is one of the most worthwhile pilgrimages a Nationalist can make. There can be fewer monuments as beautiful as this throughout Europe - certainly in countries such as England and Germany where Nationalism and Nationalist figures are frowned upon by our corrupt governments.

As such to be able to visit the Valley of the Fallen, with its awe-inspiring basilica, is very important. That is why Nationalists should make the effort to go there - where so many have prayed for the future of Europe - and follow in the footsteps of many hundreds of thousands kindred souls.

That this huge monument is there for all who fell in the Civil War shows real love for Spain and her people. It would have been easy to erect this monument for the Nationalists alone, but whilst the enemy with its falsehoods, violence and treachery was mercilessly beaten on the battlefield, the victors could not forget that they too were men - some misguided by evil leaders - who whilst they could not be allowed to ruin and destroy Christian Spain, also passed away. Unlike the enemy, who in typically Talmudic fashion, shows no mercy to the vanquished and tramples them into the dust - the victors wanted to remember all fallen Spaniards and build a new Spain without the old divisions.

¡Arriba España!

FR. MONTGOMERY-WRIGHT

On the 25/11/96, aged 82 years, one of the few remaining 'characters' of this world - the 'monocled priest' - passed away after two months in hospital following a car accident.

Fr. Montgomery-Wright was ordained in the Church of England. He converted to Roman Catholicism in 1948 and whilst at Seminary took part in an exchange to France, where he chose to stay. He ran his parish in Normandy for 40 years where he became a staunch defender of Tradition, Family and Patriotism. We have lost a brave man.

REST IN PEACE

St. GEORGE IN BRITISH LEGEND

THE DIFFERENCE between legend and fairy story is that legend may be true: it is oral history, folk memory, mixed up perhaps with wishful thinking. There is an English fairy story of St. George which Spenser used in his epic The Fairy Queen which though it tells us nothing of the historical St. George, tells us much about the English affection for St. George and his Red Cross banner. There is also a British legend of St. George, which is worth recalling in an age which thirsts again for an English identity.

The historical sources for the life of St. George are the 'Encomium' of Theodotus, Bishop of Ancyra, Eusebius, St. Ambrose of Milan, and the 'Life' attributed to his servant, Pasocrates. Of these the reference in St. Ambrose is the briefest, the most sober, and probably the most historically reliable. St. Ambrose merely says:

"George, the most faithful soldier of Jesus Christ, when religion by others was concealed, alone adventured to confess the name of God, whose heavenly grace infused such constancy into him that he not only warned the tyrants, but was contemptuous of their tortures."

The cult of St. George spread rapidly through the Roman world, a world which included Britain, which was indeed the cradle of one of Rome's greatest Emperors, Constantine. Marvels began to be attached to the earlier, prosaic, accounts of his martyrdom - though no mention of dragons was to appear until 500 years later. So many were the tales of miracles surrounding St. George that Pope Gelasius in 494 AD found it necessary to reject the more extravagant claims and declare that George was to be numbered among those saints "Whose names are justly revered among men, but whose actions are known only to God."

There are, however, the legends which particularly associate St. George with England and which have entered the national consciousness, making him the exemplar of the national character - courteous, courageous, ever ready to assist the oppressed. Generally speaking the older the legends are, the more probable they are, for it is the fanciful tales which are the latest. A legend of the first sort brings George to Britain, posted to York to serve on the staff of Constantine Chlorus, "Caesar" of the West, third in line to the Imperial throne and father of Constantine the Great. The legend has George landing at Porta Sisuntorium (Lancaster). There is nothing improbable about the suggestion that a Roman officer should receive such a posting; indeed it would be one eagerly sought by those aspiring to higher rank. Building on the possibility of George having served in Britain, the legend goes on to speak of a friendship springing up between George and the young Constantine, then living with his father at York. Wishful thinking? Perhaps, but the facts are that when Constantine became Emperor he caused Churches to be erected over the site of George's martyrdom (the ruins are still known as "The Mosque of St. George") and over his grave at Lydda. Such lavish remembrance suggests that a friendship indeed existed.

The Church near Doncaster dedicated to St. George in the early 7th Century confirms that his cult was known in Britain, but from this point on we move into an area of folk tale which is clearly designed to Anglicise the Saint. His name was included in the canon of the Anglo-Saxon Mass, which shows a well-established local veneration. In the year 1000 AD St. Aelfric published a life of the Saint which has him "a rich ealdorman" from "The shire of Cappadocia". Later still George's birthplace becomes "Coventry" and his father id "Lord Albert". At this point St. George becomes more of a fairy tale figure than a Christian Saint. He is a baby found in a furrow by a ploughman and hence named "George". As his story unfolds it transpires that he is a Saxon prince, stolen by the fairies. When grown up his ancestry is discovered and he becomes the "Red Cross Knight" immortalised by Spenser.

The dragon as a fire-breathing monster now appears in the story. St. George, the English knight-errant on pilgrimages to Jerusalem, encounters the dragon in Egypt where it is about to devour the Princess Sabra. He slays the dragon, rescues the Princess, marries her and returns to Coventry. Here George and his wife have three famous sons, the most famous being Sir Guy of Warwick, who also slays dragons.

Surely in this development of the legend after the Norman conquest we see an assertion of the national spirit? St. George has become the symbol of English resistance to continental occupation. St. George is the rallying point of Englishmen, a story which stirs the heart with pride against the arrogance of the contemptuous Normans.

How deeply the legend of St. George as an English knight-errant has entered the national consciousness is eloquently testified to by the repeated invocations of his name in Shakespeare's patriotic play Henry V, but there is still later evidence of this strong and persistent folk conviction. In the 17th Century a new chapter was added to the popular story. Princess Sabra, having been killed in a riding accident, St. George again makes the pilgrimage to Jerusalem. Returning he finds another dragon wasting England. He gives battle and slays the monster, either on Dunsmore Heath (Warwickshire), at Uffington (Berkshire), Brinsop (Herefordshire) or the hamlet of St. George, Denbighshire - all four places are eager to lay claim to the final encounter. It is this second dragon slaying which is represented in the mummer plays, still popular among country folk well into the 19th Century and recorded by Thomas Hardy in The Return of the Native. One of Rosetti's most splendid paintings is The Wedding of St. George and Princess Sabra (1857, now in the Tate Gallery, London). St. George is depicted pre-eminently as an Englishman, the St. George of Spenser's fairy epic, of the mummer plays and of Mrs. Clifford Mills' Where the Rainbow Ends - "Golden haired, blue-eyed, English of the English." The Zeebrugge raid was maid on St. George's Day, 1918. The behaviour of the Royal Marines who took part gives the lie to the story, peddled by the media in recent years, that by 1918 disillusion and despair had replaced patriotism and courage among Englishmen. The commanding officer leapt upon the bullet swept quay at Zeebrugge with the cry:

St. George - the legend that myths are made of.

"St. George for England! Let's twist the dragons' tails!" In the event the "dragons", German submarines, were successfully destroyed in their lairs.

Sneering cosmopolitans may dismiss St. George of England as a "myth" but the rootless cosmopolitans miss the real point which generations of their unlettered kin know by the instinct of the heart whenever they hoist the Red Cross Banner of England. The legend is the TRUTH: St. George, dauntless, courteous, knightly, is the type and figure of all our Race and kind. He is what Englishmen desire to be.

COUNTER POWER

As the general election looms . . .

FC takes a look at the electoral road and sees a dead end!

THE "NATIONALIST MOVEMENT" over the last 25 years has spent a hell of a lot of money on the electoral game. Many groups and organisations have come and gone - the National Front, British National Party, National Party, National Front Support Group, National Democrats etc. etc. yet despite all the "Grand old Duke of York" marches and all the money poured into elections; what concrete achievements are there to speak of?

All the many hundreds of thousands of pounds poured into election coffers haven't brought the NF, BNP, NDP or any other Nationalist group any nearer to victory. Why?

DEFEAT

If you are playing the game by the system's rules you are going to get unstuck. You can pay a lot of money to stand in a few seats, but the other parties will put in millions to ensure your defeat. And what if you do near "victory"? They will simply move the goalposts by increasing deposits, or steal your votes by playing the "Race card", or discredit you by organising football violence and proving your involvement with a few well placed leaflets etc.

We have had years and years of electioneering, years and years of pouring money and man hours down the system's drains. And what have we got to show for it? Maybe a few memories of saved deposits or the odd "victory" here and there.

But instead of saying what we haven't achieved, let's look at what we could have achieved. Hundreds of thousands of pounds could have set up a number of Nationalist printing presses churning out tons of decent, radical, Nationalist materials en masse. We could have had our own pirate radio station or our own film studio. We could have started communities all over these isles with their own businesses, schools etc. We could have set up our own usury-free co-operative banking/loan system or our own insurance company to slash the huge profits made by the system's insurance companies. There are a million and one things we could have done! Things with end results. Concrete things which we could show people and say "see, there is hope for the future - all is not lost".

REVOLUTIONARY VISION

All it would take is people with the vision and the will to start and finish such revolutionary initiatives - serious men and women, not 'fly by night' cowboys who flit from one scheme to another with the staying power of the average American sitcom viewer.

Instead of implementing such initiatives we've trodden the same old path that brings the occasional success here and there, but which has as much chance of bringing the movement to power as voting for the Mad Raving Loonie Party!

If we are serious, we must recognise that occasional success isn't enough. We shouldn't want to play the system's little games just to keep us busy while the British Nations crumble around us.

Another symptom of electoral folly is the perceived need to change the image of the "party" to fit in with the system or to try and stop the media's venom. In doing this the party (whichever it happens to be) is fooling nobody but themselves! In changing it's views it is guilty of political prostitution, like the other parties.

Another very important point is that anyone who takes part in the system's electoral game whole heartedly becomes smeared with the democratic brush (we refer to democracy, as it was recognised long ago as the cloak for the rule of international finance, world Jewry/Freemasonry and various vested interests) and should they come to power through this means (which is impossible, but for arguments sake let us assume for a second that the system would allow this to happen) they will become just like every other government this State has had. OK, they may have a Racial edge, or be slightly radical, but by sitting in Parliament as a political party they will quickly become as corrupt, scandalous, degenerate and manipulative as their Tory, Labour and Liberal adversaries.

Sorry lads, but you're wasting your time!

DOING NOT TALKING

It is time for all serious Nationalist activists to realise that the only way forward for the Nationalist movement is the building of a Counter Power; and whilst others have at last begun to talk about how good Counter Power is, only the Third Position is actively doing anything. We have seen the TP's initiatives grow over the last five years, with the latest initiative being the village in Spain (see details elsewhere in this issue of FC). Admittedly, not all the initiatives started have flourished and the odd one here and there has had to be rejected before its launch or stopped after a short time, but the fact that so many have been started and have been successes just goes to show what can be done when committed people (to coin a phrase) 'put their money where their mouth is'!

With serious people involved, with the will to break all ties with the Capitalist system and the vision to become a real beacon of hope to the rest of the British peoples, there is no reason why a Nationalist community could not work in these isles. With property prices, the likelihood is that such a community would be based in "the Celtic fringe" or a very remote part of England.

All we are outlining in this article is the need to break with the past in a radical way. We shouldn't be afraid of dropping something - especially something which has been such a drain on our resources. Let's face it - results like Millwall are unlikely to be reproduced across the UK, which is what would be needed were 'Nationalists' to gain power, (ignoring the negative effects of using the system to attain power as discussed earlier).

Whereas, if the people see a Counter Power actually working and see it as a real alternative to the 'dog eat dog' Capitalist system, we could see the gradual dismantling of the current system and an embrace of sensible economics, ruralism etc. With Nationalists at the head of this healthy, natural wave, with our literature being used as guidelines for those setting up Counter Power structures, we could soon have a powerful alternative to corrupt liberal democracy - one which the system would be powerless to stop.

NIGHTMARE

People are sick of muggings, riots, multi-racialism etc. With the rise of the Counter Power we would be able to help our kith and kin out of the hell they are living in; and they would be eternally grateful to the people who'd shown the only real interest in helping them out of their nightmare existence.

Who knows, once established in certain areas, we could even vote sympathetic people onto local councils (under various 'tags' such as Rate Payers, Local Community Candidate etc.) and work to end high taxation, social control, anti-White discrimination etc.

This is a sort of community politics which is far removed from standing a party in a general election. It is local, it is organic, it is very difficult for our opponents to attack and most importantly, it is but a part of the Counter Power struggle - not an end in itself.

NETWORK

We would certainly not restrict the Counter Power movement to Nationalists. Anti-abortionists, "right wing" Christians (such as Traditionalist Anglicans etc.), Distributists, Social Creditors and others who would tend to lean in our direction could be targeted to help our projects or to start their own which would be supportive of ours and join our network. The call could then be spread to all decent folk fed up of degeneracy, corruption etc.

Building this Counter Power won't be easy, and it certainly won't be glamorous (our Comrades at the News From Somewhere project in France have testified to that in the pages of FC!) but the idea is pregnant with possibilities. Even if we put in a fraction of what the NF, BNP, NDP etc. have and will put in to the electoral charade, the results will be fantastic!

"Please don't vote as 2.5% for the umpteenth time will only demoralise the membership. Long live the Counter Power!"

In ten years time we could have a good Counter Power system set up - or be well on our way - and it would be a concrete achievement. If "we" (that is, Nationalists in general) just continue in the boring old electoral circus - we will be no further down the "road to power" than we are now, except that in the mean time everything wrong in our society will have become much, much worse and we'll still not be able to offer an alternative. After all we've been electioneering for well over 50 years and it hasn't brought us anything (even in the 70s). Why the hell are people deluding themselves and others that it will bring us anything now? Fear of doing something different, revolutionary and positive? Vested interest in keeping Nationalism on the sideline, getting 2% in by-elections? There is no valid excuse for ignoring the Counter Power!

ALREADY STARTED

Let's forget short term publicity binges and the trappings of success! We, in the Third Position, have started building the Counter Power in these isles (as well as mainland Europe). We already have many positive ventures dotted around, some of which employ Comrades and people in the target constituencies mentioned previously (Anti-abortionists etc.). Now is the time for all serious Nationalists to come forward and help to build this Counter Power! If we don't all put our efforts into this Counter Power we can't hope for anything and in ten or twenty years time when everything has fallen apart and people ask you why nothing was done your reply will be: "oh, the same old election thing that got us nowhere and is still getting us nowhere now".

This system is crumbling! It's time to show our folk that there is a valid alternative. They've had enough of promises on paper! We need the Counter Power now! Only revolutionary ways can save this sinking ship! Only Revolutionary Nationalism can save the peoples of these once proud islands! If you want a future for yourself, for your family, for your Nation, for your Race . . . then you'd better start thinking seriously. Will it be yet another decade of wasted effort, or will it be a decade of dreams come true!

To be blunt it is up to you if we are to win this bitter war of survival. Make the right choice - there will be no second chance!

Our own schools or home schooling system is not such a far fetched idea.

THE RURAL REVOLUTION!

AN INTERVIEW WITH 'BACK TO THE LAND' ACTIVISTS - Part 3

Following on from the second part of the interview in issue 12, here's the third and last installment. So moor your 'fascist navy', jump aboard your mini-digger and roll up your sleeves, because with a hey nonny nonny we're off to the farm for one final visit. . .

9. We have seen the News From Somewhere bulletins which have been circulated throughout Europe and it is obvious that you have had a lot of work to do on the Project and elsewhere to finance developments. Have you been able to do other political work whilst doing the physical work that the Project demands of you?

NFSW: The simple answer is 'Yes'. We have managed to recruit one or two people to our 'inner circle' as it were - that is to say, the people that we are working with over here. We have a very wide range of contacts in this region - political, religious and agricultural. We have talked to people about Usury, about National Revolution; the need for organisation. In other words we have discussed our ideals with a lot of people and from that we have built up a large circle of friends.

In addition we have given talks; we have written a number of books and booklets and we have taken part in a number of activities. So we can say that we have done a lot of political work, but not as much as we would have liked. Obviously once the physical work of renovation becomes a thing of the past - hopefully, it won't be much more than a year now - it will give us far more time to concentrate on organising the circle of contacts we have into something productive too.

10. What advantages have you seen in the Back to the Land approach as opposed to the 'marches and elections' strategy used by the Cause in the past?

NFSW: We have already touched on this I think. Marches and elections are a bit like leaves that float on a pond. A simple gust of wind can blow them here and there, but there is really no direction for them. Eventually, they shrivel up, sink, die and fade away - just like the old NF has shrivelled up and faded away. The fact that we got many thousands of votes in the Seventies and early Eighties is really now only a matter of footnotes in history. Who remembers this? Who cares? What influence does it have now?

Back to the Land is a totally different approach. When you have your own computers, printing presses, vehicles etc., you have something solid. When you have your own houses, your own land; when you are producing your own food; when you have got a network of people doing things in this way - then you have something which is living and which is growing.

Rural revolution is here to stay; it cannot just be dismissed by its enemies. The State could, I suppose, come here and shoot us all, but then they could do that wherever we were. The fact is, however, that this place exists and it continues to grow day by day. In other words, the difference between our approach and the old approach is the difference between something that is natural and something that is artificial. Being a natural approach, it means that new avenues and possibilities are constantly opening before us.

"...this is something that 'ordinary' people can and should do."

11. If there were just one lesson learned from your years on the Project - one that stands out - what would it be?

NFSW: I suppose the one lesson that we have learned here is that you cannot turn your back on a comrade. It is very difficult to be involved with people around the clock without coming across periods and situations of tension. If you live with people every day, year in year out, it is very easy to get on people's nerves. Thus you have to be more tolerant in the truest sense of the word. You have to realise that people have their weaknesses and bad habits, but you have to put up with them just as they have to put up with yours.

12. Do you know much about past Back to the Land endeavours and did they inspire you?

NFSW: Of course, we knew quite a bit about what the people of the Ditchling community did - people like Gill, Pepler and Pruden - but it was very much an 'arty farty' affair. Ditchling told the world, in effect, that this was an adventure for the exceptional person because all of the people involved in the Ditchling experiment - which only ended in the late 1980s - were very brilliant people. This is not what we want to tell people now!

The lesson that we are trying to impart is that this is something that 'ordinary' people can and should do. Society is not made up of extraordinary people, it is made up of ordinary people in the main. If people like us can do something, it means that others can do likewise. It does not mean that you won't put a lot of time, effort and money into it, or that you won't make mistakes, but it does mean that it is possible!

The Laxton community in Northamptonshire still exists, I believe. That means that they have been around for 50 or 60 years, though I don't know if they are still burning with zeal or not. But they have taught us one thing: they have managed to pass on the experiment from one generation to another - from father to son; that is no mean feat. I think that their biggest mistake has been to cut themselves off from the political struggle because being heavily involved in the life of the Nation is what keeps the blood flowing and the recruits coming. If you isolate yourself, you will gradually become irrelevant or non-existent. To conclude: we knew about these experiments and others, but because our aims are different, it means that our methods have had to be different too.

13. Do you think the growth in technology will make Projects like yours easier, or are such projects largely the creation of the spirit of those involved?

NFSW: I don't think technology is all that important here. It may be important in secondary aspects in respect of businesses and the like, but although we talk of things like electric pumping systems and the like we could, if we had to, return to hand pumps as our forefathers did.

I do not think either that technology is going to make things easier. What is essential in such projects is the people involved: the character of the people. If you have got people who want to achieve something; people who are honest and hard-working; people ready to make sacrifices and go on making sacrifices; people prepared to co-operate with others, prepared to put up with real suffering - then these projects become possible.

If, on the other hand, people come out here to have a nice rural way of life along with the "benefits" of the Capitalist system, forget it! They have failed before they have begun. No amount of technology or money will ever make such projects possible with such people involved. What hardens such projects into a unity is working together, sweating together, suffering together. This is the real cement of such projects, not technology.

14. How did you greet the news that another ITP Back to the Land project was starting? Do you think that you have learned valuable lessons from which it can profit? Do you envisage co-operation?

NFSW: This new project is a logical progression; naturally, there is much that the new people can learn from us.

Firstly, I think some of them should come here and work a couple of months with us so that they get a real taste of what this kind of life is like. If they have any illusions they will disappear rapidly.

Secondly, they will be able to make a distinction between what they think their needs are and what their actual needs are. At the moment, they will think "I need this and I need that" when, in reality, you can get by with a lot less than you thought.

Thirdly, we can teach them that there is a practical ecology in such projects. In the cities, we are always throwing things away - the waste is immense! We have 'discovered' many ways of recycling things that we would never have thought about whilst living in the cities.

For example, if you have problems with wasps - and we have had some real trouble with them! - you don't need to reach for the wasp spray. You cut an old plastic bottle in two, fill it with cheap beer, replace the top half and you will find that the wasps will drown in the beer. Equally, you would be amazed how much string is needed for tying up bags, holding back bushes and so on. String, like newspaper, cardboard boxes and fir tree cones, are things that you would never give a second thought to in the city. But in the countryside they have their uses: paper can be used for lighting fires as well as wrapping up apples to be saved during the winter, boxes are always in demand for fruit, tools and a host of other things; fir tree cones, when dried out naturally, make excellent fire lighters. There is nothing that cannot be usefully saved in such a project. Time reveals ever more to us that there is a cycle of life here.

Of course, we will co-operate with the people involved in the new project. We can give them a lot of advice and guidance, but one thing has become obvious to us since we have been here and which is not obvious to outsiders: you have to have a religious view of life. If you do not have it, you will not survive.

A certain type of Nationalist is forever talking about Nature and yet knows nothing about it: he lives in the city with all the hustle and bustle; he works in offices or factories and he travels by bus or tube. It is very easy to worship Nature when you are not really involved in it. Once, however, you are part and parcel of it you will see things in a completely different way. You really do see the splendours of Nature: the rolling hills, the massive forests, the rushing streams and so on; yet you also come to appreciate that this great work is not something that "just happened by accident". It is like seeing a great work of art and being told that it "just happened". It is simply not believable. If something is created, there must be a creator: paintings come from painters, motor cars from engineers, food from farmers and so on. In other words, you see close up with Nature that God exists.

"A certain type of Nationalist is forever talking about Nature and yet knows nothing about it"

For some nationalists this might sound a bit strange, but it should not for all the great National Revolutionary leaders were strong believers in God: indeed, belief in God is central to the National Revolutionary view of the world. Salazar, Codreanu, José Antonio, Leon Degrelle, Dmowski in Poland, Tiso in Slovakia - all took this position. If you cannot see this, it is because you are seeing part of the picture and not the whole picture. It is like imagining that a tree is all that you see; but there is the unseen aspect: the roots. You cannot see them, but they are there and they are vital. Those who think that ideology will be enough are mistaken - if there is no return to our political tradition of seeing our struggle within the context of spiritual revolution there will be no future for the Nation or Europe. That is not an opinion, but a fact. This is something, therefore, that the people going into the new project must understand and accept fully if they are to avoid a failure.

15. How did you find the transition from one country to another? How do you find French society, laws, customs? Do you miss England?

NFSW: When you consider that France and England are so close to one another, you would think that the change-over would not be difficult - but it is. Many people who visit France for their holidays think that it is all very wonderful; but living in a country and visiting a country are two totally different things. The things that you might like on a visit - French sticks of bread, for example - are precisely the kind of things that you will come to detest if you live here.

Of course, I miss things, usually the small things: brown sauce, pickle - all the things that French civilisation has not yet invented! I never thought that I would miss a good cup of tea until I came here.

Now, I always return to France with hundreds of tea bags!

French law and French bureaucracy are unreal. The whole system is designed to stick its nose into every aspect of your life. There seems to be no end of paperwork to be done; no end of permissions to be obtained; no end of taxes to be paid. By comparison, England is remarkably free - believe it or not!

"The N.W.O. is seeking to establish itself everywhere...we have to fight it world-wide too."

How do we feel about the French? Taken as a whole I am not keen on them because they can be very arrogant; individually, however, you find that they are probably amongst the nicest people in the world. When they take to you, you can be sure that they will put themselves out to help - to the point of being almost extreme in their assistance.

Do I miss England? Well, not really. I miss my family and close friends of course; and I miss the English sense of humour which is so superior to French humour. Yet I think that we have to make ours the statement that appeared in the Introduction to the recent volume of Yesterday & Tomorrow which said: "Our Fatherland is where our comrades are". In other words, Europe is our home. It does not mean that we value England any less - quite the contrary - but it means that the struggle is one. So if we ended up in the jungles of Paraguay fighting alongside the National Revolutionary Parrots League of Commander Dolittle, it would mean that we would have to say: "OK, it is a little warmer here. The people are a little more dusky than back home. But the struggle continues". Why? Because the New World Order is seeking to establish itself everywhere. Therefore, we have to fight it world-wide too and in so doing we are obliged by necessity to take up different combat positions. This should never be forgotten. It will only be over when it is over.

16. If any Final Conflict readers want to help the News From Somewhere Project, what can they do?

NFSW: Sad to say, but the National Revolution needs money. Obviously, we appreciate how hard things are because we lead a very hard life ourselves. For example, we are going to have to spend around £700 in the coming months to plant fruit trees - apples, pears, cherries and so on - costing anything up to £10 each. Well, it would be nice if 70 FC readers sent us a £10 note in order to plant them. This is a simple but effective way of aiding us.

Secondly, all readers can help by talking about the Project and its ideals to others. This will bring in some money, of course, but it will also inspire many others because they will come to realise that the National Revolution is, in part, underway. Equally, it will identify one or two others who may be up to doing something similar in the future.

Thirdly, if you want to be active and effective in these kinds of practical initiatives then you ought to be involved in the International Third Position which is the cutting edge of the New Strategy. Once you are known and trusted in the ranks of the ITP, you can come and see what it is that we are doing and what we have already achieved. Instead of dreaming about the future Nationalist State, you will be able to touch an element of it! The struggle continues!

LEGIONARY BOOKSHOP OPENS (and it sells FC)!

EXCITING NEWS from our Romanian Comrades! On Nov. 8th (Feast of Archangels, St. Michael & St. Gabriel) a bookshop was opened selling Legionary and Nationalist materials. FC and FC's Romanian edition will be sold in the shop.

A person carrying out provocative actions against Hungarians was approached by our Comrades in Romania. He was asked to make it public knowledge that his actions were his own responsibility and bore no relation to the Legionary Movement.

The disruptive person reacted badly to this, threatening to 'collaborate' with the secret police, to kill a Comrade and to set fire to the HQ of Gazeta de Vest in Timisoara (which is also a family home with young children living there!).

This clearly shows the morality and mental state of agent provocateurs. When faced with the truth they have no reasoned stance, just obscene violence against Nationalists. This is something not limited to Romania.

Meanwhile the Romanian people are clearly fighting back against the forces of immorality. On Sept. 9th, Free Press Square in Bucharest was invaded by taxis and many people demonstrating loudly. What caused these 'normal' people to revolt? Growing drugs, homosexuality, prostitution and blasphemy against Christianity by the 'democrat' press! It is clear that Judaic Freemasonry will not have an easy task in subduing Romania.

At the beginning of December our Comrades were 'thrown off' their e-mail server for their Nationalist beliefs. It is now, ovidiu_gules@rommania.online.ro

For the Fiamma - the 2nd of November is Martyrs Day.

MS-FT (A.K.A. Fiamma) militants have been busy of late. Whilst Bossi's Lega Nord declared a fictitious 'Northern State', Fiamma activists gave out leaflets across the North for the unity of Italy. Meanwhile RSI veterans and young activists have made a monument to the concentration camp of Coltano where RSI prisoners were taken. Ezra Pound was also imprisoned there.

Nov. the 2nd (All Souls) was celebrated by a commemorative poster and with gatherings at relevant sites in Milan, Venice, Bologna, Florence, Rome and Naples. The day was chosen by our Comrades to be "a moment of concentration towards our Deaths, ancestors, relatives and Comrades." This act of remembrance is made "in order to launch our battle with new energies". It's possible that a large pan-European gathering may occur next year - "a date in which all militants can join as one to honour our fallen Comrades".

National Flemish Youth - 35th Anniversary

THE 21ST of September was the 35th anniversary of the National Flemish Youth organisation (VNJ). It was created in 1961 by Jaak Van Haerenborgh who wanted to unite all the small youth groups. In the 'leftist' 60s life wasn't easy for the VNJ, but since Vlaams Blok's "breakthrough" in the 80's the VNJ has groups throughout Flanders. The VNJ is well organised and disciplined and always present at all Nationalist activities. With several thousand members, beautiful uniforms and its famous band, no Flemish Nationalist can remain unemotional when the VNJ parades through the streets.

Survey Says BATF Targets Rural Whites

ACCORDING TO a recent national survey by Syracuse University, New York, the hated Feds of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (BATF) are disproportionately targeting cases in rural White America where the least crime is committed, but where people more openly oppose the U.S. Government. Rural Montana (see article on the Unabomber) tops the billing!

STOP PRESS!

Four Italian Comrades from the Veneto Front Skins are in jail for their beliefs. They "offended" some Reds, but the judge said because of the ideas behind their words, they should be jailed! They have already been in jail for many months. Now we are organising demonstrations outside Italian embassies against this political imprisonment. Write, phone or e-mail for further details now! Everyone can do something . . .

INTERNATIONAL JEWRY LOATHES CROATIAN NATIONALISM

SIMON WIESENTHAL has accused Croatia of allowing the Third Reich to rise again after street names of Jews and Communists placed there by the regime in Belgrade were removed and replaced by street names of "obscure names of old Croat kings" (how criminal!) and ministers in the Ustasha Government (the Government that ruled Croatia from 1941 - 1945 after 'Yugoslavia' was invaded by the Germans (some people tend to forget that the Croatian Govt. was supported by Berlin and that Belgrade was the centre of the Yugoslav Communist empire).

Although President Tudjman of Croatia was an anti-fascist under Tito, there is clearly a wave of Nationalism sweeping across Croatia at grass roots level. Comrades there have been instrumental in erecting a monument to the international volunteers who fought for an independent Nationalist Croatia.

DUTCH COMRADES HAVE A GOOD PARTY

Despite the failed attempt by some Hollywood Nazi agitators to take it over, the CP'86 held its 10th anniversary party in style! German singer Francke Rennie and the Flemish female group Hexa both played excellent Nationalist songs. FCs were selling like hot cakes along with materials from Comrades from France, Germany and Flanders. A lottery plus good food and drink made the evening a success. Even Ranting Ron behaved himself. New CP'86 web-site: <http://www.io.com/NVP>. Meanwhile the MS-FT Congress in Italy was also a great success with radical policies being passed on subjects such as abortion and usury. Grass roots activists were pleased.

A POLISH UPDATE

ON THE 15th of April 1996 four NOP activists from Łódź were arrested. See sticker design on the right for their names. Three of them were kidnapped from their homes, whilst Robert Sumera was taken by force from Łódź university.

They weren't allowed any phone calls, not even to their families. The police wanted them to confess to all sorts of crimes: several murders, robbery etc. Gradually the number of crimes diminished until just one remained: the wounding of a member of a drug-dealing gang.

[For the full background to the arrests - including the kidnap and rape of a NOP activist's fiancé by criminals, see FC11].

The NOP has published a declaration which points at the provocative nature of police activities - "the kidnapping of our people is the next stage of the fight, lead by the "representatives of the law" against the NOP.

For the past few years NOP members and sympathisers have been attacked by terrorist groups of anarchists and communists almost every week. The authorities turn a blind eye to these criminal attacks.

Let's take a few examples:

① 15th of September 1994: A large group of armed and camouflaged terrorists attack NOP property with fire bombs. Thanks to accidental witnesses some 'bandits' are caught and passed to the police. But the police, together with a TV crew, enter the NOP property and threaten NOP members with force; all members are filmed and shown on a local TV programme as 'the criminals'. Following this 10 people are arrested, whilst the criminal attackers are quickly released.

② 3rd of May 1995: During a legal demonstration, the police stop an official delegation of the NOP (50 persons in total), arrest some of them and begin an investigation on the pretext of there having been a fight.

ROMANIAN CONSULATE TARGETTED ON ANNIVERSARY OF CODREANU'S MARTYRDOM

ON FRIDAY THE 29th of November, 58 years after the murder of Codreanu and his Comrades we set off for Madrid again! Our Legionary banner, a bundle of leaflets and a new Codreanu banner made for the day - and we put the wind up the Romanian consulate staff! Within seconds of us arriving the first member of staff was out shouting at us in Spanish and Romanian "Who are you? Where do you live?" We just gave him a leaflet. We were soon joined by the consul himself, telling us that Romania had a new government and was now a democracy. We told him what we thought of 'democracy' and continued to give out leaflets. He then disappeared inside to phone the police. When they arrived he demanded they move us on, they didn't seem bothered. Seems Romanian 'democracy' doesn't like dissent.

COMRADE INVITED TO GERMAN NATIONALIST MEETINGS ...

DURING THE WEEKEND of the 9th of November a member of the Third Position was fortunate enough to have been invited to Baden-Württemberg for a series of meetings organised by Deutscher Freundeskreis Ludwigsburg (Postfach 305, 73633 Rudersberg) and Kamaradenschaft Karlsruhe (A.K. Bisreitung, Postfach 410610, 76206, Karlsruhe):

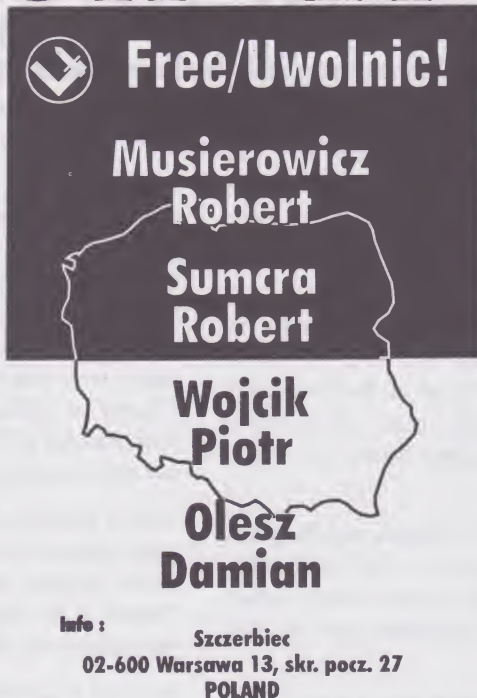

In the afternoon I attended the first of the meetings which comprised of folk dancing, the singing of songs and then a talk. The evening meeting was in the village of Neuberg-am-Fels (four miles from the French boarder). It was a great meeting with about 170 people there of all walks of life - German unity in action!

Surrounded by 200 or so riot police our German Comrades sang songs, listened to speeches and talked optimistically of a German future. After the meeting was over we made our way back and that's where I saw the German State in their full colours (those being the red, black and gold of the Weimar Republic).

We were stopped on the roadside for three hours with no real reason. Books were confiscated. Men and women searched like criminals because of course in modern Germany to be a patriot is to be a criminal! Later we found out that around 80 Comrades were arrested for just five minutes! This to scare activists - especially the younger ones - away from Nationalism.

The German state will realise, too late, that they may take away the freedom and dignity of the Nationalists, but they will never take away the hopes of the German youth!

Vielen Dank Kamaraden und Kamaraderin, Vergessen Sie Nicht das Deutschland Wir Den Leben!

jail as they were "rapists"!!! The Public Prosecutor has now began his investigation and the case is expected to start early in 1997 ...

TORCHLIT RALLY IN WARSAW!

200 Activists from the NOP and other NR groups marched through Warsaw on the 11th of November. The rally started at the monument to the Warsaw Uprising in the late afternoon, followed by a torchlit procession to the grave of the unknown soldier. Reds stoned the march, but no police action was taken. The march was well disciplined.

THE REVIEWS PAGES

LITERATURE

TOMORROW. A Plan for the British Future by A.K. Chesterton. This booklet features two articles from Candour after the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' conference of March 1961. Very collectible, original booklet. 24 pages. £1 plus postage from FC. ☺☺☺

BLATANT BIAS CORPORATION by Roy Bramwell. Although not dated, it looks to be from the mid 70's. This is the husband of Anna Bramwell who wrote 'Blood & Soil' the superb book on Walther Darré, Hitler's agricultural man - get a copy if you can! Again, a very collectible, original booklet. 46 pages. £1.70 plus postage from FC. ☺☺☺

THE HOMOSEXUAL CHALLENGE - Analysis and Response by Family Solidarity. Published in Ireland in 1990, this booklet contains many interesting facts about how poofs behave in both personal and political spheres. 64 very interesting pages. £3 plus postage from FC. ☺☺☺☺☺

IS GREVILLE JANNER QC, MP ABOVE THE LAW? by Dr. A. Van Helsing. YES! Sadly this booklet is strictly 'underground' but if you're ever offered a copy - buy it! It shows how arguably this country's top Zionist still has many questions to answer re. the seduction and buggery of 13 year old Paul Winston. ☺☺☺☺☺

CONCERTS

28/9/96. Valencia. Hyperborea.

150 Nationalists gathered to listen to this well known Italian band. This was the first concert in Valencia following the repression there of NR militants. The crowd sang along to their faves and lots of FC material was handed out. An excellent concert!

21/9/96. London/Rome/Milan. Massimo Morsello.

This date will be remembered for a long time in Italy. The "fugitive" National Revolutionary Massimo Morsello was due to broadcast live via satellite from London to maxi-screens in Rome and Milan. A venue filled with 400 people in Milan and 1000 people packed into an open square in Rome.

Various politicians, lawyers etc were present, not because they share the views of the NR crowds, but to advocate freedom of speech for political activists.

Everything was going well. But after the concerts were announced at a press conference and thousands of posters went up all over Rome and Milan, the police denied permission for a 'live' concert as it was "too dangerous" to let a "wanted terrorist" sing and talk. Only a pre-recorded (and pre-examined) videotape would be allowed!

Massimo Morsello then managed to record a concert in a TV studio with his professional band. But the Roman police did not keep their word and forbade the broadcasting, only allowing a public debate and Morsello's music on tape.

Meanwhile in Milan everything went well. People listened to speeches and then the pre-recorded concert.

In Rome after listening to just 4 or 5 songs the police stopped the event when the crowd started chanting NR slogans. Morsello's CD (Punto Di Non Ritorno) is available from FC for just £11. A video of the concert is also available from FC for £13 plus postage.

26/10/96. Leicestershire. Celtic Warrior, English Rose, Fortress, Brutal Attack and Squadron.

About 200 - 250 people turned up for this concert in the English Midlands. The first band on were Celtic Warrior who launched the gig with 'Let the Battle Begin'. Only five tracks were blasted out as Billy was ill with a sore throat. But while he nipped down the chemists for some lozenges English Rose played a blinding set which got the sizeable crowd stomping! Fortress from 'down under' were next up minus their surfboards. They started off with 'Victory or Valhalla' and smashed through 'Commie Scum' along with material off their new FC 'Into Legend' (available from FC, see review on the next page).

After a few beers Brutal Attack took to the stage and after a three year absence from live gigs in England it was good to see they hadn't changed one bit! All the old faves like 'Tales of Glory', 'Return of St. George' and 'As the Drum Beats' were played and the crowd went wild.

It's good to see that Blood & Honour is still alive and back in the hands of the bands and supporters as was originally intended - not there simply to fund a political organisation.

Last on were Squadron who played an excellent set with classics like 'R.I.P.' and 'Our Time Will Come'. A good night was had by all, with no trouble at all. Let's hope for many more concerts like this!

CINEMA

INDEPENDENCE DAY

What can be said about his film? Nice special effects? Certainly. But the story . . . 'They' (the aliens) come; hmmm - plausible if you're David Icke. 'They' attack; plausible too. 'We' counter attack; well OK. 'We' win; not a chance!

But we exactly are "we"? According to the film we are the world represented by the USA. Hooray! The USA will save us all! But not just any old citizens from the USA - oh no! - our world will be saved by a Jew and a Negro! They risk their lives so that we might live. Comforting isn't it? . . .

All through the film my White mind was thinking, are 'they', 'they', or are 'we' (read USA, Zionism, materialist world . . .), 'they'? And that is what frightened me. I can understand this film being a hit in the melting-pot USA; once more the multi-racial USA sees itself not only as the winners, but also as the 'good guys' who save the world from evil domination. But who'll save 'us' from the USA?

Make the leader of the aliens Bill Clinton. Change their flag to the U.S. one. Make the 'defenders' White Nationalists and the plot would be far more realistic! Plus ask the people of Somalia, Lebanon, Panama, Libya, Iraq etc. - for them it is 'Independence Day' every day!

To summarise: if you think Rambo really did liberate Afghanistan, go and enjoy the film. For everyone else, enjoy the special effects but ask yourself if the aliens are really from Outer Space or just behind world banking, Hollywood etc. etc. ☺☺

ADVERT: Heavy duty, long postal tubes: 35p each. Minimum order 50. Can be delivered to some parts of S.E. England. Otherwise couriered at your expense. Interested? Write to 'Postal Tubes' c/o BCM 6358 etc.

MUSIC

BATTLE ANTHEM: Brutal Attack. Svea Musik. Whayhay! This is the mighty Brutal Attack at their best! A real corker of a CD! Whatever you like - it's there. From the skinhead Rock n Roll BA are famous for, to melodies that'd get your mum singing along (in fact I think she sings the chorus on 'Dear Mother'); it's just very difficult to pick a fault with this CD. Very groovy-fab! ☺☺☺☺☺

GOD OF THUNDER: Broadsword. This CD was a pleasant surprise! Put together by a couple of self-declared Funk Brothers: Billy of Celtic Warrior and Nigel once (?) of No Remorse - helped by a drummer whose taste in shirts is dodgy to say the least! This CD is a collection of Nationalist ballads. It is a superb and very 'singalongable' CD. The only bad point is a bit of a weak cover, but once it's in the hi fi who cares? ☺☺☺☺☺

INTO LEGEND: Fortress. Resistance Records. The long-awaited new CD from the brilliant Fortress (see FC#4 for Fortress interview). The CD starts off with the powerful 'On The Horizon' and just doesn't let up! If you haven't heard Fortress you don't know what you're missing you sad sack! ☺☺☺☺☺

DESTINY ROCK: Various Artists. Destiny Records. A compilation of top Nationalist bands inc. Brutal Attack, Bound For Glory, Celtic Warrior, Bully Boys, Nordic Thunder, virtually all in English. An excellent compilation CD. ☺☺☺☺☺

NO MORE BROTHERS WARS: Various Artists. Di-Al Records. Another excellent international compilation - this one featuring many more non-English speaking bands, but you will not be disappointed! The sheer quality of the bands makes this CD well worth getting and you'll soon find yourself throwing out your old Peters & Lee albums, well maybe not, but one step at a time! ☺☺☺☺☺

SOHN AUS HELDENLAND: Noie Werte. GBF Records. Germany's loyal sons knock out 10 hot tracks. This CD is very professionally produced. NW are easily one of Germany's best exports. If this CD doesn't get you Shy Sharons out there dancing Ranting Ron will buy everyone a beer! ☺☺☺☺☺

NORDLAND IV: Various Artists. Svea Musik. Not being a DJ, I hadn't heard of these bands before and to be honest didn't know what to expect. I was soon dancing my way around the settee! Four very professional Swedish bands singing songs in Swedish and English. This is good stuff! ☺☺☺☺☺

LIVE!: Various Artists. This CD is the recording of a concert featuring Celtic Warrior from Wales; ADL 122 from Italy and Bifrost from France. The recording quality is good - you could almost be there except for the plastic beer glasses containing watered down beer! ☺☺☺☺☺

KEEP IT WHITE: Various Artists. Thor Records. Another international compilation, good to see the Czechs and Hungarians getting a look in. All the bands are top class. The CD starts with two tracks from Squadron - and goodness gracious me, what absolute stonkers! English Rose also sneak in two good tunes near the end. Another good to get CD! ☺☺☺☺☺

REVUELTA: Division 250. Tuono Records. Valencia's Division 250's long awaited second offering (after the disastrously distributed vinyl offering on Rebelles Européens). the title track is a Spanish cover of Plastic Surgery's brilliant 'Rivolta'. You'll soon find yourself joining in the chanty choruses such as "Contra El Capital" and "Ramiro Ledesma" (who he? - see page 5). D250 are a superb band and this is an excellent CD. ☺☺☺☺☺

FRANCE EXPLOSION: Various Artists. Pit Records. This compilation features a medley of songs from eight top French skinhead bands. Classic skinhead Oi/Rock. ☺☺☺☺☺

VIKING ROCK: The Order/Mjöllnir. Di-Al Records. This mini-CD starts off with two songs from 'The Order' (in reality half of Celtic Warrior and half of Razors Edge) and finished with three tracks from Mjöllnir, a German outfit. With this CD you get 20 minutes of well played skinhead rock. ☺☺☺☺☺

TERRE DI MEZZO: Terre di Mezzo. RTP. For those who like European Folk music - here is the new cassette of Terre di Mezzo! They offer us a range of ancient ballads from Gaelic, Breton, Old Provençal, Calabrese etc. This 'excellent dish' is due to the fine ingredients - acoustic guitars, flutes, percussion, male and female vocals etc. The best songs are probably the Irish 'Foggy Dew' and the Breton 'La Blanche Biche'. Having seen them live in London I knew what to expect and I wasn't disappointed! ☺☺☺☺☺

TRIBUTO A JANUS: Various Artists. RTP. For the 20th anniversary of this legendary band, all the top Italian Nationalist bands got together to do cover versions on CD - bands like ADL 122, Corona Ferrea, Intolleranza, Hyperborea etc. The importance of Janus is that they were the inspiration behind many of the NR bands in the last 10 years. In 1976 Janus made their first appearance, giving the neo-fascist audience their powerful hard rock with its amazing Celtic folk influences. ☺☺☺☺☺

INTERNET

PERIMETRO. www.atlas.co.uk/perimetro/avanti.htm or through the link on the ITP's site. This is a very interesting NR site. Perimetro believe that the tools of the 'modern age' should be used by Nationalists (whilst not forgetting our history and heritage). Try out their graphic design section for posters, CD covers etc. There is also a news section, mostly covering the music scene; plus a good page on the history of the Italian NR music scene from its very beginnings until today - all in all, well worth a visit! ☺☺☺☺☺

BELLOC STUDIES. www.geocities.com/Paris/7990/#links This page gives a good background to those interested in Belloc and/or Distributism. You'll be able to find out more about Belloc and his colleague G.K. Chesterton. Other sites can be accessed and you'll be able to find out info on literature, old and new. ☺☺☺☺☺

RATINGS

☺ - hmmm. Better not bother. ☺☺ - OK, but nothing too special. ☺☺☺ - Good, worth getting/seeing. ☺☺☺☺ - Hot stuff daddio. A 'must have/see' ☺☺☺☺☺ - Wow! Go and sell your grandmother right now. You've gotta get/see this one!

THE LONE REBEL

We have said before that as far as Nationalists are concerned the means never justify the ends. That is why as well as condemning the futility and folly of following the electoral road to power, we have also strongly condemned terrorism. Terrorism is not only morally wrong (how can someone who claims to love his land or his people kill innocent bystanders?) it is also tactically wrong and can be used by the enemy as an excuse for certain measures. Indeed, it is often instigated by them through agent provocateurs, pseudo gangs or black propaganda (a perfect example being the Oklahoma bombing - see FC #9). Having said that, there is clearly a lot wrong with modern society which will cause lone rebels to come forward. Let us look at one such person:

On the third of April 1996 the FBI arrested Theodor Kaczynski, the Unabomber[1], in his house, not far from Lincoln in Montana, USA. He was charged with several terror bombings which took place between May 1978 and April 1995 which resulted in three people killed and 23 injured. All the bombings were aimed at people involved in high tech development, e.g. scientists, businessmen and lawyers.

Ted Kaczynski was born in a Polish family[2] in Evergreen Park in the suburbs of Chicago. From early childhood Ted showed outstanding abilities, unlike other children of his age. Once, having taken an IQ test, it appeared young Ted's score was incredible, about 160 - 170 points.

At the age of 16, Ted was sent to the prestigious Harvard University, which only the very rich or those with an excellent background usually get into. Young, but very bright, Ted surprised his lecturers and caught their attention with his abilities. Later on, Ted moved to Michigan University where he got his PhD in Maths, astonishing his tutor with his unconventional way of thinking and understanding scientific phenomena.

From that moment on his professional career bloomed. Ted published his first works; became a lecturer at Berkeley University and was known as a great expert internationally. However, he didn't show the slightest interest in teaching students; he considered them materialistic and degenerate. He could have been a great mathematician. Nevertheless he gave up his career, quite suddenly, in 1969 and moved to Montana.

Living on his own, Ted built a little house in a picturesque area. He lived a very simple life with a little furniture in the house and with no clock. He baked bread and hunted wild animals, hardly ever visiting a nearby little town. Yet he read a lot, Shakespeare's works becoming his main interest.

Montana is said to be the land of extraordinary people. It attracts unconventional people, individualists. It is the place where one can meet anti-government police and it opens its borders to Christian Fundamentalists, White Separatists, Constitutionals, Armed Survivalists and, so-called, Freemen.

It was this land that allowed Ted to find himself the right place in a corrupt world. He spent time riding his bike, sightseeing the country and admiring its beauty. Only from time to time did he leave his house, usually not more than one or two days.

His trips and the bomb explosions used to happen at the same time.

For the Feds, several years of searching for the Unabomber were spent in vain. Having few traces, most of them very imprecise and none leading to Ted's house in Montana the FBI couldn't "bring him in".

Until the Unabomber's Anti-High Tech Manifesto was published in September 1995, nobody knew what kind of reasoning there was behind the way he acted. In August 1995 Ted Kaczynski sent copies of the Manifesto with a 62 page letter entitled 'Industrial Knowledge and its Future' to the biggest American newspapers, The New York Times and the Washington Post. In his letter the Unabomber promised that if his work would be published he would stop bombing. However, if the newspapers didn't publicise the Manifesto, he would double the bombing. Finally, the press published Ted's work, printing a special cover which cost over $40,000.

The first sentence in the Manifesto says "Industrial Revolution and its consequences have brought misfortune to the human race." Further on, the Unabomber names all other present disasters such as over-population in cities, the lack of contact between man and nature, a great decrease in family values and he claims that industrial civilisation needs to and has to be destroyed!

Since the Manifesto was published the FBI spent millions of dollars looking for the Unabomber without any success. Unfortunately, by accident, Ted's brother came across the Manifesto notes and gave them to the police. The prize for finding Ted was 1 million dollars!

Ted Kaczynski, the Unabomber, is about to be given the death penalty.

[1] The nickname 'Unabomber' was given in the late 70s, when Ted sent his first bombs to the university staff ("UN") and airline employees ("A") - hence "UN-A-BOMB".

[2] Thanks to his mother Ted has never condemned his Polish background. He often used Polish names. While at hotels, he always registered as 'Konrad Korzeniewski'.

UNABOMBER'S MANIFESTO - SUMMARISED

Here, taken incidentally from the newsletter of a Traditionalist Bishop from the USA, are a few summaries of sections from the Manifesto:

Section 2: In truth the Industrial-technological system, I.-T. or IT for short, makes it so easy for men to satisfy their basic needs of food, clothing and shelter that man's equally natural need to attain some goal by serious effort on his own part remains widely frustrated. Also family, or any such small-scale loyalty natural to man, is necessarily disrupted by the large-scale commitment required for IT to function. So IT destroys family values...

Section 5: For if IT survives... either... machines will be in total control and no man will be free. Or an elite will run the master machines...

Section 7: Finally, let our revolutionaries not mix with leftists who are as anti individualist as IT is, and so will only oppose IT in order to use it against everybody else... they habitually collaborate in revolutions with non-leftists only to double-cross them later. Leftism is totalitarian by nature, in fact it is a substitute religion.

Honour Evita:

What a nerve the liberal establishment have got! Not only have a gang of hooked-nosed perfidious eskimoes taken over Disney, but — oh sacrilege! — now the brazen tart Madonna is splashed across the world's cinema screens as that great heroine Evita; someone the decadent 'pop' star is not worthy to be mentioned in the same breath as! The people of Argentina were justly outraged and so should all Nationalists the world over (let's see disruptions of the film you people - stink bombs work well!).

The media made much of Madonna's recent baby, called Lourdes Maria - named after a town where the Virgin Mary appeared, but pronounced fully in an American way, not the usual French way. Apparently she consulted a 'spiritualist' prior to naming her child. As with her stage name we can only assume the name is meant to be sacriligious. Hanging's too good for her!

If you see any posters advertising the film be sure to disfigure them. Let's honour the memory of Evita in that way at least, even if we can't do it in the way we'd like (see the headline, dummy!).

Hang Madonna!

GOING TO THE MOVIES?

If you're going to see 'Evita' to let off a few stink bombs, make sure it's the Cine-UK cinema in Stevenage. Cine-UK is owned by a partnership, comprised of Rothschild Investing Trust Capital Partners and Stephen M. Wiener, son of a U.S. Rabbi, who is personally sinking $45 million into the project. Another 19 "megasized cinema complexes" are planned for the UK. Wiener says there should be a cinema complex within 20 minutes of every driving area. Yet more side shows for the goyim.

Meanwhile, in Norwich...

St. William of Norwich has been remembered by the people there for 800+ years after being ritually slaughtered in 1144. Now the politically correct Norwich Cathedral have opened a chapel "dedicated to the victims of religious fanaticism". Spot on! About time the 'C. of E.' spoke out about Jewish Ritual Murder! Rave on!

ANTI-CHRISTIAN "SURVIVOR"

Elie Wiesel (a.k.a. Lying Weasel) the professional Holohoax survivor extraordinaire was on hand earlier this year in Poland when various ceremonies of "reconciliation" (a.k.a. doing what the Zionists tell you to) took place. One ceremony took place to remember 34 victims of a 1946 pogrom after Poles accused Jews of ritual murder. Nine Polish patriots were later hanged by Communist appointed Jewish judges. Another ceremony took place at Auschwitz and old Elie was there! When he spotted Polish veterans carrying large crosses he became enraged and *demand*ed that the symbols of Christianity be removed as they were, according to the Holy Father of the Holohoax "an insult to the Jewish victims." So much for "tolerance and understanding". Seems to be a one way affair as far as certain (chosen) people are concerned. Whether it's Poles or Palestinians it's a case of do what we say, not do what we do. Nothing new there...

THE DASH TOWARDS THE POLICE STATE CONTINUES

Nationalists across the world have been saying for years that harsh gun controls are the sign of a tyrannical State which fears its citizens more than anything else. Britain now ranks as the State with the harshest gun laws following the criminalisation of hand guns larger than .22 calibre. Of course nobody wants any more massacres by gun toting weirdos - but surely the answer is strict vetting for guns, tighter laws on films (which surely provoke such things by showing innocents getting blown away by macho types willy nilly) and actually catching criminals - as opposed to victimising the general public!

Ranting Ron - the Clint Eastwood of FC.

Voice from the back of the hall: "OK Comrades, who left the dead bloke on the rostrum?"

A bet's a bet!

Cheers to Mark Bosnich the goalkeeper of Aston Villa for sticking to the bet that he could upset the 'Yids' at Tottenham. His dodgy salute, coupled with his impromptu hand moustache, got the crowd going! Being a decent man (despite the rumours) I'll honour the bet. There's £10 on its way our kid!

Watch out! Watch out! There's a poof about!

The computer giant IBM which employs 110,000 people is the latest multi-national big business to undermine family values by giving faggots ("same sex cohabitantes") all the rights of married couples, i.e. health insurance etc. # The Labour Party in Exeter has selected a BBC Radio journalist - Ben Bradshaw - as its candidate for the next General Election. Mr. Bradshaw is a unashamed poof. # Rotherham council's social services have said applications for foster parenting are "particularly welcome" from homosexuals! as they were "currently under represented". # Male homosexual prostitute and paedophile Gerald Hannon is expected to win an appeal to keep his job at Ryerson Polytechnic Institute in Canada. In 1977 he was in court for paedophile writings, but was acquitted, he openly advocates "boy-love". Just one question arises: Why is he still alive? Fetch the rope!

Poor Little Israel!

When 'Israelis' kill and maim Palestinian men, women and children, the media and various Jewish and Goyim spokesmen often bemoan the fact that not only is Israel "the only democracy in the area" (yeah right - see the cartoon on my page in FC 11) but that "poor little Israel" is surrounded by nasty large oil-rich Arab countries. As such we can only assume Israel's military achievements over the Arabs are nothing short of miracles.

But aren't we forgetting something?

An interesting document landed on my desk the other morning. It broke down all the U.S. aid sent to Israel since 1948. IT amounts to a grand total of $77.171 BILLION! Add to this money from other pro-Zionist States such as Britain, plus the billions in reparations from Germany for the fictitious "six million" and it's not so much "poor little Israel"!

And let's not overlook other aid such as military training, access to foreign intelligence (including spy planes and satellite pictures), donations from big businesses and international finance and unofficial backhanders of all sorts. Only then do we start to see the real face of Israel. A leech sucking as much as it can from Jews all over the world and Governments of every shade. "Poor little Israel" my foot!

TRUE FACE OF THE LEFT

Janet Anderson will become the first ever Minister for Women if Labour win the next election. She says: "Under Labour, women will become more promiscuous. That's an election pledge." Enough said!

Satanic Sacrifice in England

No one should be surprised at the death of little Rikki Neave the six year old sacrificed by his 28 year old mother, who had an obsession with the occult. A book in her possession by Aleister Crowley detailed how to sacrifice an innocent child to Satan! She also used Rikki as a drugs courier and she did tarot card readings for her neighbours. When Rikki was found he'd "been stripped but not assaulted and his limbs symmetrically spread out to the same angle on either side, even the thumbs."

It's easy for people to scoff and say that this is the work of a loony who took things "a bit far", but this is the logical consequence of Satanism. That's why this filth should be rooted out.

Sadly there are those, as FC has revealed in the past, who have tried to mix Satanism with Nationalism. In Gazeta De Vest (English edition #9, page 12) there is a warning about such infiltrators. Two such are Boyd Rice and Michael Moynihan. Both belong to the Church of Satan (set up Anton Le Vey in the U.S.). Rice produced a CD and in an accompanying booklet talked of the Legionary Movement as "a strange religious/political sect obsessed with death and resurrection, blood and soil," and talks about the "ritual murders" and Satanist ceremonies carried out by the Legion's Death Team - obvious nonsense! Rice also calls the Legion a movement from Transylvania (some obscure link to Dracula!) whereas it is an historical fact that it came from all over Romania - not just one part of it.

The Legion, as everyone knows, were sincere Orthodox Christians and abhorred anything to do with materialism, let alone the occult and Satanism. Their talk of death was in a Christian sense - as we talk about the death of the Martyrs (see my back page in FC 11; feature 'Long Live Death' for the full story).

So, for the record, I'd like to make it clear - Nationalism has nothing in common with Satanism. The New World Order and Freemasonry are the true faces of Satanism with all their power, prestige and (supposedly) impressive baubles.

Let's remember the martyrs of the Spanish Civil War, from right across Europe, who fought and died for Christ, Spain and Europe!

P.S. Interestingly Michael Moynihan appears on the back page of 'Lutte du Peuple' (No.32) the paper of 'Nouvelle Resistance'. FC attacked these people before for being pro-queer. They are the French 'partners' (ooh er) of 'Third Way' the English pro-queer, pro-occult group. At a recent gathering the French lot were selling openly blasphemous T-Shirts with Christ's head on.

P.P.S. Boyd Rice's CD is put out by 'World Serpent Distribution' (Satanic connotations there?) who are based at: Unit 717, Seagar Buildings, Brookmill Road, London, SE8. (Tel. 0181 694 2677). Obviously I hope no irate Nationalists decide to pay them any visits.

JOIN THE THIRD POSITION!

- Fed up of the betrayal of your Nation by political parties?
- Sick of Zionist sob-stories whilst Palestinians are butchered?
- Angry about the number of abortions going on daily?
- Riled at the way degeneracy seems to have taken over?
- Cheesed off with the banks bleeding everyone dry?
- Disturbed by the way we are becoming a Police State?

Then you should join the only organisation who seriously want to change things for the better: the Third Position! Our members are drawn from all walks of life, all age groups, all professions - but the one thing they have in common is a vision of a better society built on the foundations of National Freedom and Social Justice!

What we do: Here are a few of the things the Third Position has done and is doing:

- Organised the Distributist League to give usury-free loans to help Nationalists set up small businesses.
- Set up a network of such small businesses which in most cases help employ fellow Nationalists
- Set up a library and Cadre training facility in a rural location in England.
- Set up The Legionary Press which publishes books and other publications of interest to Nationalists.
- Helped overseas Comrades by sending delegations around the world for conferences and camps.
- Produce various publications and propaganda to enable our activists to win back the streets from our enemies.

If you broadly agree with our aims and would like to help in taking these islands back from the tyrants and parasites that rule them, then join our fight! To join the Third Position, send £20 made payable to "TPFF", to: The Secretary, BCM ITP, London, WC1N 3XX, England. For an info pack send a cheque for £5. The Third Position is the only group seriously interested in winning! Join us!

ITALIAN COMRADES IN JAIL! Help our campaign to free the 'Verona Four'. For a leaflet send an SAE into Final Conflict. Overseas Comrades should picket Italian embassies.
